Passion, Focus and Social Responsibility

Contributing to Client Success

We are an executive search boutique. Our commitment is to improve our client's human resource and organizational change functions, by developing team skill levels, and aligning the human resources processes with the organization's guiding strategies. At InQuest, we do not consider our work done until our client has expressed complete satisfaction.

Custom-tailored Service

At InQuest, we design each project according to our clients' needs. We are rigorous, flexible and creative and never take a 'cookie-cutter' approach to our work. We specialize in strategic human resource consulting, people management, leadership, coaching, organizational change and executive search. Two partners have in-depth experience in the finance industry.
